

Reading for Anonymous

Your question was: will shane kanabar (11/9/1989) and sheena (20/7/1991) be together?

Anonymous, I have consulted the tarot for an answer to this question and this is what I have discovered. Your actual reading is below.

Based on these cards, I would say that it is likely Shane and Sheena will be together. However, this conjunction of souls requires work on both sides. Should either partner be unwilling to engage in this work, the relationship will not be maintained. These two should remain objective about their needs and express those things to each other. Such expression may not be easy and may initially cause strife, but failure to express these needs will make it extremely difficult for the relationship to grow. In the end, when the work is done, these souls will come together and remain thus so long as the work continues. Remember that the universe doesn't do the work for us, but rather it presents us with opportunities in which our hard work can be rewarded.

Goddess of Fire: Bridget in the Past position.

A card in the left position indicates what has happened to affect your question in the past.

Drawing this card marks the need to cultivate the impersonal observer and the all-seeing mind, focusing on clear, objective, and centered thoughts.

Mastery
in the Present position.

A card in the middle position indicates what is affecting your question at this time.

The seeker has come through a time of inner or outer crisis and is facing the rewards of positive action and reaction.

Merging
in the Future position.

A card in the right position indicates your questions future.

Drawing the Merging card indicates a time of renewal and regeneration, empowering yourself as you conceive, create, and experience in a conscious way.